Millennials Want To Send Troops to Fight ISIS, But Don't Want To Serve

After Paris Terrorist Attacks, Solid Majority of America's 18- to 29- Year-Olds Support Sending U.S. Troops to Defeat ISIS; Less Than 20% Inclined to Serve if Needed.

Too many of our young people don't really understand how the world works. Most of them have has most of their needs and wants taken care by someone else. It doesn't matter how dangerous are hard the task is as long as someone else does it.
