

Who is responsible for the country's mess The President of Congress?

Don't blame Congress or the President for the mess the country is in as we knew the kind of job they were doing and we reelected them. AS Pogo said we have identified enemy and they are us. The recent primaries are a good example. We returned a 140 incumbents and only 1 new candidate. Our reasoning is our representative gets things for our state. So we are willing to sell our souls for a few handouts. Certainly we want our representatives to see that our state receives the same treatment as all other states. The President and Congress are supposed to represent all states and people, in other words the Country. When one is honest and looks and examines the job they have been doing they would have to say that they have done a Lousy Job. Still we reelect them so don't complain for they say if you don't like what we are doing don't reelect us.
